4. Whom should we mention as key participants of the projects?

You should mention translators, editors, proofreaders, illustrators, graphic and layout designers, and other professionals that will be actively involved in the work on the project.

5. What are the constituent documents?

You can provide certificates, articles of association, bylaws, and other similar charter and organisational documents as constituent documents.

6. Should we buy the copyright in advance?

As you wish. We ask you to provide a letter of intent or an agreement with the copyright owner, but you may pay for the copyright later.

7. Who is the owner of the copyrights for the book?

The publishing organisation, we do not claim for any rights.

8. Is co-founding obligatory?

Yes. You must pay for at least 30 % of the project's costs from your own money or the money of another donor.

9. We have already purchased the copyright. Can the translation grant cover these expenses?

Yes. Please provide an agreement with the copyright owner and a payment confirmation: bank statement, receipt, etc.

10. Can one publishing house submit several applications?

No. You can only submit one application within one open call. However, you can still apply for a next open call.
